LIVE Arts: Verbatim Theater with Joel Bernbaum

Joel Bernbaum is a theatre artist and journalist. He specializes in “verbatim theatre” - making plays out of interviews. Students will be introduced to different ways of creating art with interview material, including script writing and movement pieces. Joel will teach students about the art of asking engaging questions, and lead them through an interviewing exercise. The main objectives are to learn how to generate interesting interviews and how to use the material to create short theatre pieces.

*The Teacher-Guided Post-Broadcast Activity on pages 3-4 will give students the opportunity to apply what they have learned during the broadcast.

About the Artist

Joel is an actor, director, educator, journalist, playwright, and the founding artistic director of Sum Theatre. He is a graduate of Carleton University and the Canadian College of Performing Arts, where his Masters’ thesis on Verbatim Theatre’s relationship to Journalism passed with high distinction. As an actor, Joel has performed across Canada with companies including The Belfry Theatre, Carousel Theatre, Puente Theatre and Shakespeare on the Saskatchewan. Joel toured Italy and Switzerland with ACLE Theatrino and worked for the Usuki Board of Education in Japan using drama to teach English. Three of Joel’s plays have been professionally produced: Home Is A Beautiful Word at the Belfry Theatre (Victoria BC), Operation Big Rock at Dancing Sky Theatre (Meacham SK) and My Rabbi (co-created with Kayvon Kelly) at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival/Canadian tour. Joel was selected as the 2015-2016 Urjo Kareda Outstanding Emerging Artist in Residence at Tarragon Theatre in Toronto, the first person from Saskatchewan to receive this honour.

Curriculum Aims & Goals

Creative/Productive:

Students will learn how to create a short scene from material gathered during interviews. They will use symbolic representations/ gestures and, optionally, spoken words.

Critical/Responsive:

Students will learn how to craft effective interview questions and how the use of verbatim material differs from acting out a traditional script.

Cultural/Historical:

Students will learn about the origin and practice of verbatim theatre.

Curriculum Outcomes: www.curriculum.gov.sk.ca

CP3.3

Sustain roles in dramatic situations and accept/respond to others in role, using the environment (e.g., natural, constructed, imagined) as inspiration.

CR3.1

Describe ideas and problem-solving processes used in own arts expressions.

CP4.3

Assume a range of roles and strategies in drama work, using a Saskatchewan context as inspiration.

CP4.4

Contribute ideas, when in and out of role, and further the development of the drama by participating in consensus building, choice of strategies, and selection of dramatic alternatives.

CR4.1

Analyze how dance, drama, music, and visual art works represent unique ideas and perspectives.

Materials/ Resources needed during broadcast

- Each student will need a pen or pencil and a few sheets of paper.

Teacher Guided Post-Broadcast Activity: Collaborative Scene

OVERVIEW: The post-broadcast activity has two parts. In the first part, students will write questions, conduct an interview, and take notes. In the second part, students will combine raw material into a short scene.

Joel has created sample questions in line with the following Arts Education Curriculum Outcomes for each grade.

Grade 3:
CP3.3 Sustain roles in dramatic situations and accept/respond to others in role, using the environment (e.g., natural, constructed, imagined) as inspiration.

Grade 4:
CP4.3 Assume a range of roles and strategies in drama work, using a Saskatchewan context as inspiration.

Materials/ Resources for Post-Broadcast Activities

- Chalkboard or whiteboard
- Pencil, paper
- Space to move around and act out scenes

Part 1: Develop Questions and Conduct Interviews (60 minutes)

1. During the broadcast, Joel demonstrated how to ask open-ended questions. Lead a group discussion with your class to review.
For example;
 - using good question words: how, why, describe, finish the sentence
 - staying open ended
 - picking a theme
2. Choose a theme and discuss with your class. We recommend using the conceptual focus for each grade (Grade 3: Environment/ Grade 4: Saskatchewan Voices). With the class, brainstorm a list of questions that students can refer to while conducting interviews. Write them on the board or, if students will be conducting interviews outside the classroom, ask them to write out the list of questions on paper.

Sample questions Grade 3:

- My favourite place in the world is...?
- I like this place because...?
- Imagine a new planet, what would it be like?

Sample questions Grade 4:

- Saskatchewan is...?
- If someone comes to Saskatchewan for the first time, what are the things they notice?
- People in Saskatchewan are...?

3. Do interviews in pairs OR interview a family member or someone else outside of the school setting. Students should take thorough notes- the results of the interview will be used as the basis for the next activity.

Part 2: Use interview material to create a short scene (60 minutes)

1. As a class, briefly discuss the interview process. What worked, what did not? If students were to do it over again, what would they change?
2. During the broadcast, Joel demonstrated how he works with verbatim material using gestures and transcripts. Review this process with the students. For example:
 - What are symbolic representations/ gestures?
 - Did Joel use all of the interview material, or did he pick certain parts to use?
 - How did Joel re-arrange portions of the interviews? (using cue cards)
3. Work with students to combine the material collected during their interviews into a short scene. Students may work in small groups to create several scenes or as a class to create one single scene. Have students:
 - a) Experiment jamming with symbolic representations/gestures to the different words and phrases they transcribed.
 - b) Select 5 symbolic representations/gestures
 - c) Decide as a group on the order of the symbolic representations/ gestures
 - d) Discover transitions between the gestures
 - e) Decide if they would like to add spoken words to the gestures (bits of transcribed interviews)
 - f) If using spoken words, remember that there is no “acting” needed. These are real people’s lines, not characters. Ask the students to respect the exact words from their notes.
4. Rehearse the scene(s).
5. If working in small groups, ask each group to perform their scene in front of the class. If working as one large group, you may want to perform the scene for another class or at an assembly.
